FROM THE BOARD ROOM

Good evening and welcome to those of you joining us from Bath for tonight's fixture.

Last week we said our final goodbye to Pete Pavey despite the sadness of the occasion it was great to see so many Supporters, Former Players, Directors and Volunteers in attendance. Pete dedicated a huge amount of his life to the club as a volunteer and the Board will be discussing ways to reflect that dedication to the club in some form of tribute.

Hopefully tonight we can see something similar to our last game here with Welling, Saturdays defeat at Chesham followed the patterns for so much of the season in the game but don't take our chances.

A reminder that our Hall of Fame event is Friday next week and you still have time to purchase tickets for the evening.

MATCHDAY HOSPITALITY

FROM THE DUG OUT

Good evening and welcome back to The Bob Lucas Stadium for this evenings National League game against Bath City.

Before I jump in I will extend a welcome to Darren Way and his staff, players and supporters. They make a relatively short trip down from the famous city to compete with us for the all important three points.

Saturday was a frustrating afternoon for us all, it mirrored a lot of what we have been working so hard to get away from, missed chances, not taking the moments when they come, playing well, but ultimately running out as the team that misses out yet again. It was frustrating, but as I have continued to say, there is still a lot of football to play, and whilst I am aware that those games are thinning, we still see the mission and where we want to be, and will work until our dying breath to achieve that.

As a team it was a sucker punch after coming off such a high the week before. We spoke as a team and it is clear we know where the mistakes were made, and it is time for us now to right those tonight with a chance to bounce back again in front of our home support as we take on The Romans.

We are going to need you all for this run in, it was fantastic to see so many of you in Chesham, we really appreciate the support you are showing, it doesn't go unnoticed.

I would lastly like to just send my wishes to our Kitman Lloyd who is currently in hospital unwell, Lloyd is very much a heart beat to this club, and we miss him but send him our wishes and hope to see him back with us soon.

Enjoy the game,

Warren

FROM THE SA

PETE NASH

Good evening everyone for another game under the lights. I would like to offer a warm Weymouth welcome to officials, staff and players of Bath City, hope they enjoy their brief stay at The Bob Lucas Stadium and wish them safe travels.

Last Thursday we said our final farewell to a club legend, the wonderful Pete Pavey. It was really heartening to see such an incredible turnout as the Terras family packed out the chapel at Weymouth crematorium and the space outside. It was a blaze of claret and blue, with just a small tinge of gold and black, the colours of Wolves, Pete's 'other' team. It is worth repeating that we will never see his like again, as Pete lived through so many technological changes, embracing them all. I hope his family and friends took comfort from such an incredible display of love and affection to an amazing man. I would just like to reassure you all that the club will be honouring Pete's memory in the long term at the football club. We have had quite a few suggestions and ideas already, but is something we want to get right, so it will not be rushed. We are liaising closely with Pete's family and will update you as soon as there has been a decision.

Please enjoy the game this evening and cheer the lads on to help secure another home win in the league and start turning this place into a fortress once again. It was such a relief to finally get a home win, and what a performance it was from the lads. It was great to see all the happy faces at the final whistle.

As ever, thanks for reading. Best wishes to you all and thank you for your continued support.

FROM THE TERRACES

THOMAS TAYLOR

Good evening everyone and a warm welcome to those making the short (ish) trip down from the Roman town of Aquae Sulis. Known to the world as the city of Bath. Also, a warm welcome back to the current Bath City goalkeeper Harvey Wiles-Richards who makes his first return to the Bob Lucas Stadium since he joined them in the summer following his successful loan period with us. We hope you all enjoy your evening (hopefully without winning) here at the Bob Lucas Stadium.

With 15 games to go we all know the mountain we have to climb to stay in the National League South for another season. Last Saturday's game against Welling was hopefully the start of one of the greatest escapes in English Football. The performance from the squad especially in the second half was one of the best seen in recent times at the Bob Lucas Stadium with many stand out performances. For me, the standout performances were from Brooklyn Genesini, Jake McCarthy and Euan Pollock but everyone to a man was outstanding in the second half. What was impressive more than anything was the relentless drive to keep on scoring and not sit back and defend the lead we had created for ourselves. I am hopeful that the performance at home against Welling is the springboard in turning the Bob Lucas Stadium into a place where teams dread to come once again.

Our opponents this evening have had what can be best described as an underwhelming season by their recent standards. A struggling first half of the season led to the departure of long time and former Terras manager Jerry Gill. His replacement Darren Way has somewhat steadied the ship at Twerton Park. The Romans are not quite clear of safety, but my prediction is that they will still be a National League South side next season.

Hopefully, this evening we can replicate the high standards we set against Welling and hopefully not a repeat of this fixture last season when we fell to a heavy 5-1 defeat with Ben Thompson scoring the only goal for us that night.

Let's get behind Warren and the boys and get another home win.

C'mon you Terras!

Thomas

KEEP AN EYE ON

Scott WILSON

Much travelled striker who returned to his roots in 2022 having started his career with Bristol City. Had a short spell with Bath in 2014 but most notably represented Macclesfield Town, Oldham Athletic and Dagenham & Redbridge. Scott has made over 100 appearances for City and averages nearly a goal every other game.

Jordan TILLSON

Bath-born defensive midfielder Jordan joined City in July 2024. He started his career in Bristol Rovers youth set-up before switching to Exeter City in 2012. During his early years with the Grecians he spent loan spells with Gloucester City, Chippenham Town and Weston-Super-Mare before going on to make over 100 appearances for the Devon club.

He left Exeter permanently in January 2020 to join Scottish Premiership side Ross County. He was a regular for the Staggies over the next two seasons before joining Dundee United on loan for the 2023/24 campaign. There he helped the Tangerines lift the Championship title and promotion back to the top division. With the expiration of his Ross County contract he choose to return south and join his hometown club.

THE ROMANS

Harvey WILES-RICHARDS

Harvey returned to Twerton Park in June 2024 following his release by Bristol City. He began his career with City's under-18 side, making his debut for the first team in an FA Trophy tie at Horsham in November 2018 as a 16-year old.

He went on to made a further eight appearances over the following two seasons which earned him a trial with Bristol City toward the end of the 2019-20 season. He signed for the Robins during the summer and would go on to spend four seasons at Ashton Gate, playing regularly for their under-23 side and making the first-team matchday squad on a number of occasions. He also had loan spells with Gloucester City, Hereford United and, last season, Weymouth. Harvey is the cousin of City's right-back Joe Raynes.

THE TOUCHLINE

Darren was appointed Romans manager in December 2024. After coming up through the youth ranks with Norwich City he spent the majority of his playing career with Yeovil Town. He was a vital part of the Glovers side who won promotion to the Football League in 2005. In January 2006 he joined Swansea City but his time in Wales was beset with injuries and he returned to Somerset in the summer of 2008. However, in December that year he was involved in a serious car accident and in February 2010 he announced his retirement having made well over 250 appearances for the club.

During his recovery he had carried out coaching and scouting roles for Yeovil and he was appointed officially to the coaching staff after hanging up his boots. After five years as first team coach, during which team the team climbed to the Championship, in December 2015 he was put in temporary charge of the side then, after six games, made the permanent manager. He spent three years in charge at Huish Park but in March 2019, with the club facing relegation, he was sacked. In December 2019 he joined Plymouth Argyle as Under-18 manager and would spend three and half years with the Devon club before joining Fleetwood Town as assistant to former Yeovil teammate Lee Johnson. Johnson was sacked in December 2023 whereupon Darren also departed the League One club.

Bath are a very “familiar foe” as we have only played a couple of clubs more often in our history. However we are on a poor run against the Romans with just one win in our last eleven meetings (D4 L6). At least at home our record improves with one win in six (D1 L4), preceded by nine without defeat against this Somerset team(W5 D4)!

Our most recent encounter anywhere was last October in the league at Twerton park where loanee Christie Ward was on the mark to secure a deserved point in a 1-1 draw. Last season we achieved an identical result away - Touray equalizing from a tight angle. Earlier in the campaign in November Bath visited and returned up north with 3 points after a thumping 5-1 win, Ben Thomson bagging a consolation for the Terras. That was their second visit to the Bob Lucas stadium though following a FA Cup qualifying visit in September when the black & whites progressed to the next round 2-1.

Two seasons ago we did beat Bath at home in the league in April. A late Bearwish penalty secured three points that proved pivotal in our “great escape”. Earlier in the campaign we made the trip to Somerset in September - a 1-2 loss that spelled the end of David Oldfield's short tenure as Terras boss.

Going back through time, we also looked horns against Bath in the 19/20 Conference South campaign. We secured a 1-1 home draw in our first home game in August but it was a 0-0 stalemate when we met in Twerton in March – in what proved to be our last away game before the first lockdown was announced. Dusting off the older record books shows just how we have amassed nearly 200 games against Bath as, from 1908 until 2006, there was barely a season that went by where we did not face them in the league or in various cup competitions but our first ever meeting was a 1905 friendly.

Euan, you've been here since the summer. How are you enjoying the team and the club?

I've really enjoyed my time at Weymouth so far. Obviously we have wanted performances and results to be more consistent throughout the season, however we've had some great days such as Dorking and Yeovil away that are real highlights of this season. It's been great to get to know new teammates who have become great friends and who were so welcoming to me since my first training session. The fans have been amazing from the first game of the season so I cannot thank them enough for their ongoing support even through the tough times this season.

Obviously you've had a very decorated youth career. Where did football start for you?

Football started for me at the age of 4/5 where me and a few friends went to a Sunday football club called 'team theme' in my local area. It was all about enjoying football, playing with friends and learning some core values at such a young age that I still keep with me to this day. I then joined Bridport youth when I was 7 before being scouted for AFC Bournemouth at the age of 8 which was obviously a great feeling and kick started my football career. I was so lucky to have such a supportive family around me that made everything possible so I cannot thank them enough for all their commitment and sacrifice they made for me.

Being a Bournemouth player must have been exciting, what was that kind of environment like?

Being at Bournemouth from such a young age taught me so much about football, life and myself. From the age of 8-16 it was all about learning, making mistakes and just enjoying playing football at a high level. When I signed my scholarship then my first pro contract at 17, things became much more important. I learnt the importance of winning and learnt so much off some great players and professionals that have been in the game a long time. It was a very exciting club to be at, especially from being there when Bournemouth was in league 2 to where they are now is brilliant to see.

Was it always football for you? Did you ever have your eye on another career when you were younger?

It's always been football for me. I've always enjoyed other sports since a kid like cricket, cross country running etc but they never gave me the buzz that football has. The best part about school was getting a day off every Wednesday to go up to Bournemouth and spend the day with the team doing as little work as we could and just wanting to kick a ball around.

Who was your biggest footballing idol growing up and why?

My footballing idol growing up has always been Harry Kane. I've tried basing a lot of what I do on him (to an extremely lower level of course), the way he uses his body to pin defenders and win fouls, his movement in and around the box and his technique when striking a ball are things that I've watched a lot of and spent hours trying to master. His story of being rejected lots in his career and the setbacks he had as a young player are things I also take a lot of inspiration from.

You bring a really direct approach to your play I think it's fair to say, is that nature or something you've been taught?

I was always quite skinny and lacked muscle since the age of about 16 where I grew quite quickly and become a bigger player for my age group. This then I've tried to learn how I can use my height to help the team. I've always enjoyed a physical battle, however this season has been one like no other. The size and strength of some of the defenders in this league is unbelievable. I've had to work hard on how to gain an advantage and use my body in a way that makes it difficult for defenders to win headers and come through me easily. I've had some great battles with some big boys this year and enjoyed the challenges it brings.

Have you ever played another position?

Yes, I never become a number 9 until the age of about 14. I was quite versatile from a young age playing lots of games in midfield and sometimes centre back if needed. It was important to learn multiple positions back then as you never know if you need these skills in the future.

You have a close group, we see you with Ben, Brook and Busey a lot, is that a childhood friendship?

I've known Ben and Brook a long time since my days back in Bournemouth. I lived with Ben for 2 years, always playing pranks on each other and messing about. It's also been great to get to know all the new boys who I didn't know. Busey is a good example of that. We travel into training together and have grown close even though he plays his music way too loud in the car. All the boys are brilliant and I'm very grateful for the way they have been with me throughout the season

What's your favourite thing to do Sundays to unwind?

Definitely a round of golf. I've recently got a membership so looking to play more in the next few months. I enjoy playing with my dad and my friends at home. If I'm not playing golf I'll be watching the whole of super Sunday or chilling out with the girlfriend.

What's the best stadium you've played at?

I'd probably say the Amex stadium in Brighton. You don't realise how big it is and how high up it goes until you're in it. It's a beautiful stadium and I won't forget that experience for a long time

Best player you've played against?

The hardest defender I've played against would be Levi Colwill at Chelsea. I played against him when I was 16 I remember not getting a kick all game. The best technical player I've played would be Tommy Doyle who is now at Wolves. He didn't loose a pass when I played against him it was quite ridiculous to watch!

Most famous number in your contacts list?

Junior Stanislas is the most famous name in my phone book. He is now a coach at Bournemouth. I had some great chats with him as he went through the same injury issues I was going through at the time. He is a great person and clearly had a great career and someone I will always look up to What's your final message to the fans?

My final message to the fans is to keep believing just as all the staff and players are. You have been amazing all season and I urge you to keep pushing the boys on as we need you more than ever. Looking forward to the upcoming games and thank you gain for all the support!

GREAT PLACES TO PLAY

Woods Words

The last home match came as a relief if nothing else.

After nearing a calendar year since our last home league win (how crazy is that?) it was certainly a good feeling to put a win on the board, even if it most likely won't mean a great deal come the end of the season.

To do it against Welling, who are also hovering above the relegation zone was good. I had the feeling they came here expecting an easy win and the opportunity to give our manager some stick. I certainly enjoyed how it went, I am sure the gaffer did as well!

It's strange how in football when a team is on a run, it often ends in a spectacular fashion. Nottingham Forest were on a good run, then crashed 5-0 at Bournemouth. So, for us to end the home hoodoo with a 5-1 win was great.

It's funny, as I thought Welling started the game well, looking confident and passing the ball around, then they sort of fell apart. It could well have been more than the 5-1.

After a season of putting match highlights together, mostly defeats, it was less of a chore after that one I can assure you! Unfortunately we were unable to build on that win at Chesham on Saturday.

It was always going to be tough, they are having a good season, but on listening to the game, a little like the Hampton match, we might have come away with something.

As has been the case all season, the fine margins went against us. After pulling level in the first half we conceded a silly free kick and again they scored from it right on half time.

Then again, the lack of goals meant we were always up against it. I think we all need a reset. It happens in football sometimes, you have to start from scratch again almost. It looks like that will be in the division below though.

The Dorset derby's look a bit in the balance, as Dorchester are well placed in the playoff places, with Poole currently in the relegation zone and Wimborne just outside it.

A local(ish) match tonight, with old rivals Bath City. They will I am sure be looking for the win tonight, to ease their own slight worries of the drop. Personally, I think they have enough of a gap now and they also have enough about them to steer clear of any potential problems.

As I wrote in my last page, I am just trying to enjoy games as a one off match.

'till next time,

Terra's Show Battling Qualities

Written by James Spring

Weymouth had to show their battling qualities to take the points against Feniton on Saturday.

The visitors arrived just 1 place above the relegation zone, but they made a bright start - creating the games first chance just 3 minutes in, but Heybourne held onto a shot at her near post.

They then saw a couple of efforts go wide of the mark, as Weymouth struggled to get a grip of the game in the early exchanges, and they were indebted to a crucial tackle from Potter to save her side when Feniton counter attacked with pace.

It took until the 28th minute for Weymouth to create their first chance of the game. Billing's shot was blocked, as was Clark's effort on the rebound.

Roberts then tested the visiting goalkeeper with a free kick but her effort was well held, before Screen's shot from the edge of the D was blocked.

Roberts fired another free kick over the bar on 37 minutes, and 3 minutes later Billing managed to skip away from a couple of challenges down the wing before digging out a cross for Screen, but she miscued her effort wide, and it remained goalless at the break.

The relegation battling visitors were well organised and were giving Weymouth no time on the ball. But on 52 minutes, Weymouth took advantage of a rare defensive error from the visitors. Redding stole possession inside the box, and showed composure to shift the ball onto her favoured foot before firing into the bottom corner to give Weymouth the lead.

Feniton almost responded immediately. Heybourne palmed an awkward dipping shot behind for a corner, and the visitors headed over from the resulting corner.

On 65 minutes, Heybourne made a match winning save. Feniton created an overload and managed to square the ball across the box to an unmarked player, but Heybourne got down well to make the save.

There was a disjointed climax to the match with a lengthy stoppage for an injury to Lucy Roberts, who had to be stretchered off. But when play did get back underway, Weymouth defended a couple of late set pieces and got over the line.

It wasn't pretty by any means, but Weymouth took their chance and did a solid defensive job to earn the 3 points.

VAarrrgghh

Ben Ashleford

I'm not going to talk about Weymouth football club today. I know that will take nobody by surprise after another disappointing result at Chesham on Saturday. The performance really bothered me, but I have no desire to pile in to the negativity, frustration and misery that the players must be feeling. My message to the players for the little its worth is, you're better than you seem to believe. You're not a worse team than Chesham, go and prove it, to yourselves more than anybody else!

Instead I want to talk about the weekends FA Cup.

The cup has essentially been bastardised by its own association. As I write this there are still two ties to be played. Television is king of course. I'm sure the Crystal Palace fans are delighted at the prospect of travelling to Doncaster on a Monday night, but who cares about match going attendees, right?

I'm a fairly suspicious man. I look at some of the decisions over this weekend. Manchester United were gifted a winner in the last minute of stoppage time with one of the clearest offside goals I've ever seen. The following day, Newcastle United were handed a winner without the ball crossing the line it appears.

These decisions strike me as bizarre. Especially when you consider that VAR and goal line technology don't come into effect until the fifth round for some bizarre reason.

I think that there is reasonable doubt over whether these were genuine mistakes. The FA will most definitely have seen the criticism of the technology. So some genuinely baffling and, to the teams on the wrong end, very costly decisions from the match officials will, Mark my words, see the FA react. Rather than criticise their referees, I'm confident they will announce an Introduction of full technology throughout next seasons competition.

Like I said, I'm a suspicious man. Either way, it's still my personal opinion that, just like the national league, the football association are no longer fit for purpose.

Here's an idea. Why not just remove all interpretation and just return to having laws. That way we can correctly train the officials and negate the need for VAR completely.

Weymouth in the Community

This week Weymouth in the community have been joined by year 9 students from Wey Valley Academy.

They took part in a number of classroom activities which worked on their communication and teamwork skills taken by our Community manager (Andy Yates)

The students were treated to a stadium tour from our Kit manager (Lloyd Green) where they got to see the day to day running of the football club.

The group finished with a group project, how to promote the football club in the local area. The ideas and plans they came up with will be fed back to the football club and hopefully a few of their great ideas will be put in place.

To find out how your school, team or group can book an experience, please contact andy@weymouthitc.co.uk
